Master's Academy & College, founded by Tom Rudmik, in Calgary, AB, began its journey in 1997 as a K-12 research and development school, with a vision of developing a 21st century model of education called "Profound Learning". Today, Master's has gained international recognition for the development of its Future Ready Model of Education and is becoming one of the top performing K-12 schools in North America. Students at Master's have consistently outperformed provincial standardized test scores by 4x the provincial norms at the high standard of excellence.

Master's Profound Learning model goes beyond academic preparation. A learning framework has been developed that focuses on who the student is becoming by incorporating Future Ready Skills.
